The majority (⅔) of the company was in daily training in case of alarm (border). This was the unit used for sealing the area up from the rear.

The commander usually was a 1st Lt. his deputy (a 2nd Lt. This duty was the organizational deputy, the political deputy of service and the keeping up of the training schedule with the help of NCO-s.

In case of alarm he led the company to the meet place and with the help of his deputy and according to the order of the Border-affairs officer placed the patrols at the held roads that both he and the political deputy were in command of an escaping unit.

In case of arrest he decided the number of the escort men among the most experienced men. The personnel of the reserve company was always composed of "provided" border guards. Here they concentrated those soldiers who were guilty of unpermissible acts: i.e. fell asleep while on duty, conversed through the border, "unarmed" border-violating took place at the section under his guarding, counted a - border - pill as they knew him to be religious and that he does not fall in with the newest "ideology".

The company co. himself - although not unexceptionally - was often was an officer who could not be raised as with the command of unit because of alcoholism or repeated unauthorized border-violation but he was politically well trained.

The co. of the reserve company was personally responsible for the behavior of his men. In this sense, those soldiers who could not be taken on border-duty were in case of alarm were put a 24 hr. interior service: for instance „attendants" in interior area etc.
